

A SIGN FOR ALL SEASONS - Cooperation between the F.G. Miller High School Students Union, the students, teachers and Board of Education has resulted in this handsome sign which will keep the community informed about the various activities taking place at the school. The first event to be featured is this weekend's Graduation Ceremonies. Proudly displaying the new sign are, from left to right: Denis Jasinsky, Cody Kurek, Jody Brovchenko, Shane Smith, Steven Winkler, Melanie Poulin, Renee Anderson, Denise Amyotte, Jonathan Kadutski, Shawn Fairbairn, Blaine Easthope and Leonard Franko. Students Union Past President Jasinsky said the project had first been discussed in the 1991-92 school year, but was dropped until the "persistent 1992-93 Students Union came back strong and got the job done," according to current President Winkler. Brovchenko, Smith and Fairbairn did the woodwork in the school shop under the direction of Project Manner Easthope from a graphic design by Mr. Franko. The metal punchwork crusader was created by Jody Brovchenko and Scott McMillan, while James Yake is creating silhouettes for each event. Painting was done by Sheldon Kinjerski and Jason Fisher, while the three ladies did the lettering.

Recreation on council agenda

Recreation figured prominently in Elk Point Town Council's May 10 agenda, from prices of programs and services to a request for the proclamation of Fitweek, May 28 to June 6.

The Community Services department is presently undergoing a reorganization, and consideration is being given to whether programs are paying their way. With this in mind, Council ratified an increase in user fees from $15 to $25 for the Community Services gym, and the implementation of user fees for the soccer field of $15 per team per year and a school user fee for the ball diamonds of $100 for the season, to defray maintenance expenses.

Council also ratified the agreement for supply of water to the Golf Club on a one year basis, and the maintenance agreement for the Elk Point Recreation Park by the Golf Club, also for one year.

Broken windows are again a problem at the Community Services Centre, presumably due to vandalism. The windows, situated at the top of the gym walls, have suffered breakage from both inside and outside and are now boarded up, pending the determination of costs of covering them with expanded metal mesh when the glass is replaced. Basketball nets have been removed from inside the structure with an eye to reducing the likelihood of window damage from basketballs. (Continued on Page 2)

Forts open for second season

The Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre opened Saturday, May 15 for its second season, with story tellers, musicians and dancers joining in the opening day festivities.

Early Saturday morning, Interpretive Centre staff and volunteers followed the trails to the original fort sites to hoist high the massive flags whose counterparts flew over the forts 200 years ago. Meanwhile, staff inside the Interpretive Centre readied everything for the influx of visitors, while the Friends of the Forts put the finishing touches on their display of crafts and souvenirs in the well stocked gift shop.

Later, the Interpretive Centre welcomed a slow but steady stream of visitors, who enjoyed hearing tales of the past told by

Rodeo rescheduled to June 30 and July 1

Elk Point's Spring Classic Stampede, cancelled due to rain on its original dates of May 8 and 9, has found the pot of gold at the end of its rainbow as the star attraction of Elk Point's huge Canada Day celebrations. The rodeo has now been confirmed for a 6:30 p.m. performance on Wednesday, June 30, and 2:00 p.m. on Thursday, July 1.

Wednesday's performance will be followed by the traditional Canada Day Beerfest, to be held in A.G. Ross Arena. Thursday's agenda includes the Chamber of Commerce Pancake Breakfast and the parade preceding the rodeo, and the Smilin' Johnny musical stage show to wind up the day with a 7:00 p.m. time slot, also in the A.G. Ross Arena.

The rodeo will be the central point in a very busy week. The Canada Day Gospel Concert gets the week underway on Sunday, June 27, while a raft race on the North Saskatchewan River is planned for the evening of June 28, and a street dance for June 29. The week wraps up on Friday, July 2 with a breathtaking performance by Canada's famous Skyhawks Parachute Team. Watch for further details as they become available.

Council discusses recreation

Ball diamond scheduling, procedures were discussed, and a decision made that Community Services should continue to book the diamonds for tournaments, and advise the Golf Club, who will now be operating the Rec Park facilities, when tournaments are scheduled.

The concept of a community centre attached to F.G. Miller High School has been ratified by both the Town and the County of St. Paul at this point. The County has appointed Councillors Bill Ference, Ray Danyluk and Bob Smith to a committee to look into this further, and Council did likewise, with Mayor Ed Buck and Councillors Lawrence Pidluzny and Vern King taking on this duty. A list of community groups who may wish to have input has been compiled, and a meeting of the Town and County committees with representatives of these groups is being set for later this month in the FGM library.

Economic development was also under discussion. Councillor King told Council the Chamber has established a committee chaired by Dave Yake, which has now met twice, with Administrator Curt Svendsen and Councillor King as the Town representatives. "They seem anxious to look at the state of the business community and ...to encourage people to look at Elk Point for doing business." King told Council that the NADC has offered the use of a facilitator who will help the group discuss direction at a brainstorming session to set up goals and objectives. "Elk Point has a lot of pluses - we don't always realize them,"

King concluded.

King also reported on the Economic Development of Northeast Alberta meeting he attended in Vegreville May 6. The message he brought back was that "communities that want something to happen, can't sit and wait for someone to come and do it for them." Import replacement, value added processing and resource enhancement were some of the ways suggested for encouragement of economic development.

COOKING FOR THE KIDS - The staff of Elk Point's Toronto Dominion Bank held a fundraising weiner roast on Friday, with proceeds going to the Northern Alberta Children's Hospital Foundation. Here, Connie Capjack, Judy Wasylshen and Laverne deKergommeaux tend the barbeque as the lunchtime crowd arrives.

ANOTHER STEP IN POSTER COMPETITION - Elk Point Branch, Royal Canadian Legion, President Louis Verhagen (left) and member Wayne Palmer present Clinton Maksymec with the cheque and certificate for first place in Junior Black and White Poster at the Alberta - Northwest Territories Command level as well as a certificate of congratulations from MP Deborah Grey.

Heads UP.

There's a fine line between safe and sorry.

Electricity is a fact of life. In fact, it's so much a part of everyday life that people forget the potential for accidents. Any contact with overhead power lines or exposed wires can cause serious injury. And underground power lines are equally dangerous to anyone who digs without locating them. Understanding how electricity works can keep you and those close to you, safe. When it comes to electricity, what you don't know can hurt you. For more information on electrical safety, call your local Alberta Power office.

What's Happening At COMMUNITY SERVICES

What? ... Fitweek is the world's largest celebration of active living.

When? ... May 28 to June 6, 1993.

Who? ... All Canadians are encouraged to get involved.

Where? ... Fitweek activities can take place anywhere there are people.

Why? ... Research has demonstrated that regular physical activity is important. Increased physical activity results in enhanced social, physical and mental well-being and an improved quality of life for individuals and society. An active lifestyle results in greater control of your life and an improved self-esteem.

Be sure to participate in Fitweek - May 28 to June 6, 1993. You'll love the feeling!

TIME IS RUNNING OUT

The North East Alberta Summer Games are quickly approaching and plans are underway to make it a weekend with something special for people of all ages and interests. The deadline for athletes and teams to register is Friday, June 11. Registration forms and additional information is available at Community Services (724-3800).

SENIORS: A STRENGTH OF ALBERTA

Everyone is invited to take part in the many festivities and special activities during Seniors' Week, June 6 to 12.

The week is an opportunity for Albertans to recognize the enormous contributions made by seniors to strengthen our families, our communities and our province as a whole.

The theme of Seniors' Week is "Seniors: A Strength of Alberta". We are fortunate to have 230,550 seniors living in our province, and it is easy to see how older Albertans make our province stronger.

Seniors have a wealth of experience. They are active as business people, entertainers, writers, teachers and in dozens of other endeavors.

Older people are a vital part of our families. They provide emotional support and advice, financial support and often help out with babysitting, housework and yard work.

Many seniors are active volunteers working to help Albertans of all ages. Many participate in programs for seniors such as Meals-on-Wheels, seniors' clubs and centres and educational courses.

The vast majority of seniors are healthy and living in their own homes. More and more seniors are independent and active.

Seniors have a wide array of interests, skills and backgrounds. There are hundreds of interesting and talented seniors in communities across the province.

Seniors week is a wonderful opportunity for Albertans of all ages to meet and learn more about seniors. It is a time to keep older people in touch with youth and to acquaint young people with older adults.

It is also an opportunity to honor seniors for their contributions to the past and future of our province.

Join us in celebrating Seniors' Week, June 6 to 12.

ON APPRECIATING DIFFERENCES ...

If I do not want what you want, please try not to tell me that my want is wrong.

Or if I believe other than you, at least pause before you correct my view.

Or if my emotion is less than yours, or more, given the same circumstances, try not to ask me to feel more strongly or weakly.

Or yet if I act, or fail to act, in the manner of your design for action, let me be.

I do not, for the moment at least, ask you to understand me. That will come only when you are willing to give up changing me into a copy of you.

I may be your spouse, your parent, your offspring, your friend or your colleague. If you will allow me any of my own wants, or emotions, or beliefs, or actions, then you open yourself, so that some day these ways of mine might not seem so wrong, and might finally appear to you as right-for-me.

To put up with me is the first step to understanding me. Not that you embrace my ways as right for you, but that you are no longer irritated or disappointed with me for my seeming waywardness. And in understanding me you might come to prize my differences from you, and, far from seeking to change me, preserve and even nurture those differences.

The continuing saga

I've had so many comments and inquiries as to whether I have recovered a feeling of well-being, since my recent saga of the collapsed casing, the crumbling cribbing, and etcetera, that I am moved to offer a second chapter.

Yes, I have my new well! And, yes, I am well aware of how it came to be, as I watched the procedure unroll from my doorstep. Now all I have to do is recover.

I was going to write these vital statistics down, for future bragging, and in case someone asked, but being me, I neither wrote them down, now remember them, but I seem to recall that the drilled well is somewhat under 200 feet, and the water came up something like 75 or 80 feet -- but don't hold me responsible for that, this is just a wild guess at remembering what I was told. But even if I'm out by 25, or even 50, feet, who cares? What I am delighted with is, that there is lots of water, it is clean and clear, and tastes just fine. And I'm not so foolish as to be disappointed that it isn't soft water. It is wet water -- to me the main thing.

I took a few pictures, as the days proceeded, to show my kids when they come to visit, (so they'll feel sorry for me ... You know -- "Poor Mom! All that responsibility, all that mess to clean up, all those decisions to make! All those bills to pay!" Nah, Nah ...)

But really, it was kind of terrifying, when, a few days after the drilling, with the water pumping out across the yard, and down the driveway, full of sand, gravel, and yes, a nice portion of blue clay, to know that before I would have water in my taps, a deep ole ditch has to be dug, from the new well, to a) all the way into my basement, or b) to the old well, there to connect to the previous lead-in pipes.

Fortunately, they were able to use the large plastic pipe to thread the new hose in through, which of course, had been put there in the first place, for that very purpose. (Once again, I am grateful for Clif's forethought).

In case I didn't mention this, my old well was about 20 feet from the house, surrounded by lawn and flowers and sidewalk. It (the lawn) got quite messed up, but not destroyed, as it would have been had the plastic pipe not worked.

The monster machines came, and numerous men to master them. All one day they growled and clanked and chomped at the earth. Those top few inches of black soil are very thin, compared to the sand and clay and rocks that came, bite by bite, out of that trench and on to my grass on either side.

It looked like they dug down about fifteen feet, but perhaps it was less, and, as soon as the hose and power line were placed in the bottom, another machine was pushing the rocks and sand and my sidewalk back down into the hole. By mid-afternoon, they were finished, at least with the part in my yard, and I have my water running, a new meter on, a new pressure tank in the basement, and an H of a mess in my yard.

Well, another week has passed, and I assure you, there is a difference, already. I have raked and scooped and move a many wheelbarrow loads of rocks, dirt and clay. I even got my tame crocuses back into the soil, after a week setting in a pan against the wall. They are full of buds and should be blooming -- and soon will, I think.

So it's starting to look more like where I live, as the grass greens, the leaves show, and little birds are looking for nesting spots.

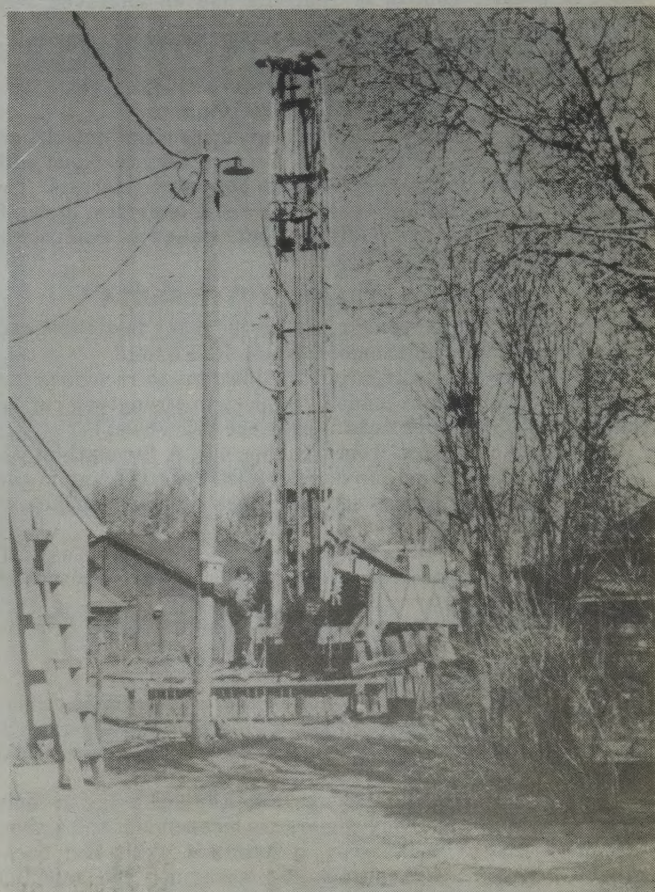

A neighbor came with another machine, and packed the soil, moved more rocks, and after uncovering a gold mine worth of rotted manure out by the old dairy barn, brought several loads to cover my wide brown scar, and then more loads of black soil from the garden edge.

A few weeks should see green fur covering the now-bare strip, and a new sidewalk will tidy things up.

I am assured there will be water in the hose, and the sprinkler will keep the seedlings green. I'll probably still come out ahead, over paying a city water bill every month -- in several years time. Come by and have a look; maybe it will surprise you.

Business is in bloom at the Meadowview Garden Centre

A twenty year dream has blossomed for Maryann Kozicky, owner of Meadowview Garden Centre, which opened recently three miles north of Elk Point. "I've been studying horticulture for twenty years, and this year I decided it was now or never to do something with all I have learned."

Work started on the greenhouse during the winter, with plants started in February now blooming in great profusion for last weekend's Grand Opening. The garden centre has been open since May 1, and the highway location is providing very beneficial. "We had one customer from Williams Lake, BC, and have had lots of others from out of the area."

The centre offers a full range of both flower and vegetable plants, as well as several types of geraniums and a wide selection of perennials, herbs, shrubs and trees. Cedar planters, trellises, flower bed fencing and yard accessories, as well as bark, mulch, fertilizer and even stakes, stepping stones and twine are available, and Ms Kozicky hopes to expand her lines every year, with poinsettias ready for this Christmas and "maybe even into woodburning hot tubs eventually." She would also like to add a play centre to keep children entertained while their parents shop.

Maryann and husband Gary also have a flourishing landscaping business, which provided the trees for the Peter Fidler Peace Park last year.

SURROUNDED WITH BLOOMS - Maryann Kozicky and her mother (and assistant) Caroline Shankowski were surrounded by beautiful flowering plants as they waited on Grand Opening customers this weekend.

Tax exemptions cost town dearly

Tax exemptions and concessions - some on Town owned property, some controlled by the Municipal Act and some given by the Town to encourage development and operation of facilities used by the community - cost the Town of Elk Point over $200,000 in lost revenue, Mayor Ed Buck told residents who attended the recent Annual Meeting of Ratepayers.

Land and improvements exempt from taxes are assessed at slightly more than $15.5 million, which at the estimated non-residential mill rate, would come to $204,649.60 in taxes, not taking into consideration taxes on slightly more than $7 million in assessment of Town and County property. Churches, the hospital, Heritage Lodge, and the Northern Lights Library System are exempt from taxation under the Municipal Act.

The Town is considering asking some concessions, such as building use for specific events, from organizations which own the untaxed facilities, in exchange for the tax concession. This is already done with the Elks Community Hall, which has received a tax break for many years in exchange for use of their facility for the Annual Meeting.

FGM students meet "Spike"

Amanda Stepto, who starred as the pregnant 14 year-old Spike in the popular television series Degrassi Junior High, was in Elk Point last Wednesday under the joint sponsorship of Planned Parenthood, F.G.Miller High School and FCSS to talk to students, staff and parents.

Clad in baggy overalls and t-shirt and with her hair in dozens of tiny braids, the television personality seemed like just one of the kids, and her message was delivered in a friend-to-friend manner. She asked the students if they believed the popular myths - such as being unable to get pregnant the first time one has intercourse and being able to catch AIDS by shaking hands - and was glad to hear there were few believers of these untruths.

"Anytime you have unprotected sex, you can get pregnant. The only 100 percent sure method of contraception is abstinence," she told her audience. Abstinence is also the only sure prevention from sexually transmitted diseases, she noted. "Everyone is at risk of AIDS," she continued. At this time, there are 498 cases in Alberta, 82 of the victims are heterosexual, and 5000 more people are infected with the virus causing AIDS, many of them teenagers.

'Spike' said that sex education is "not just about sex." Instead, it is part of a personal growth process that helps young people to make wise decisions.

The students had recently had the opportunity to view a video, "Degrassi Talks About Sex," and many had written out questions that they would like answered. Other questions came from the floor, to be answered by 'Spike' and a panel of professionals, including Public Health Nurse Lois Sheplaw, Baptist Pastor Jim MacLellan, Director of Nursing Colleen Simon, Vernice Cartwright of the St. Paul Crisis Centre, Shirley Quinney of Frog Lake Mental Health and Corinne Lewis of Social Services. Cheri Lindquist, who teaches the CALM course at F.G. Miller High, said the video and presentation fit in well, and were an opportunity to share feelings and concerns and open the lines of communication between parents and teens, as well as providing facts "to dispel the myths of locker room conversation."

Tennis news

Danny Maas
Elk Point Tennis Club

Just a reminder that tennis practices for all ages are currently running. It is not too late to sign up, although spots for younger children up to age 15 are limited.

Because numbers of students in each group are larger than anticipated, (a pleasant surprise), there will be amendments to the practice schedule, effective immediately:

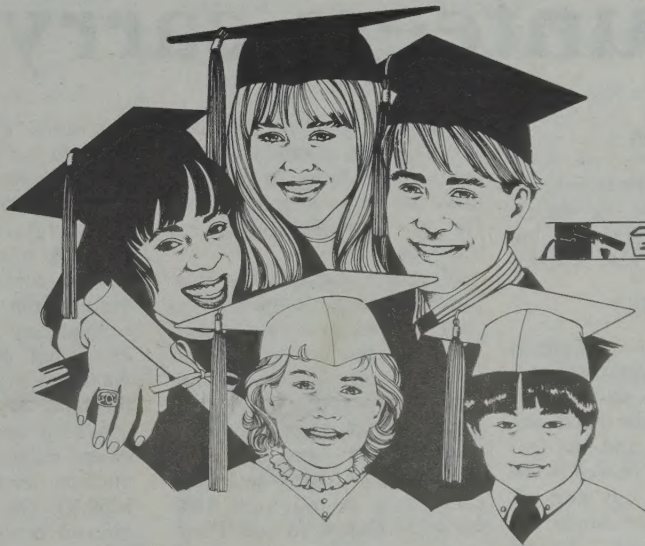

Ages 9 to 12: Group 1 - 3:30 to 4:30 Mondays and Wednesdays; Group 2 - 3:30 to 4:30 Tuesdays and Thursdays;

Ages 13 to 15: Group 1 - 4:30 to 5:30 Mondays and Wednesdays; Group 2 - 4:30 to 5:30 Tuesdays and Thursdays.

All other times remain the same.

Also a reminder of the Adult Beginner Tennis Clinic to be held on Saturday, May 29, 1:00 to 5:00 p.m. This clinic is for absolute beginners, so you need not be athletic or in shape, and it does not matter if you've ever picked up a tennis racket before. The cost of $25 gives you this clinic, a membership in the tennis club, free use of rackets and tennis balls, and free instruction for the rest of the season. If, at the end of the tennis clinic, you do not enjoy tennis or if you feel you have not learned anything, I will give you your money back! You have absolutely nothing to lose.

If you would like to register for this clinic, you must call the Tennis Hotline at 724-2864 and leave your name.

VOLUNTEERS AT WORK - Hughie Krucik (right) and Irene Magnusson are among the dedicated members of the Elk Point Hospital Auxiliary, who held their very successful Health Day Tea, Bazaar and Bake Sale recently.

Volunteers carry on

Irene Magnusson

Volunteer Week is over for another year, but the work of Elk Point's dedicated volunteers goes on, year round...

Red Cross

Was it a couple of months ago that the volunteer canvassers were out, scouting for donations from the good citizens of Elk Point and district? Of course it was. March is the time we contact any and all, with the plea for funds for Red Cross work. Every month, many of this same group gather, to discuss activities of the past and coming weeks, and, in Elk Point, we make quilts.

Last meeting, May 3, saw two more comforters set up, pinned, and tied. Materials are donated, mostly, and the results are shifted along to the city head office, where they are dispensed to victims of fires and such. The May meeting was, once again, in the United Church hall, after a few held at the Modin's home; the renovations in the hall are very nice. Seems to be more room now, too.

The results of the March canvass were tabulated and are long since off to Headquarters, to be used on their distress alleviating mission. This year a whopping $10,640 was delivered into the canvassers' hands by our generous, caring neighbors -- easily topping our previous years. Volunteers are great, aren't they, and donors most generous. Be sure it will be appreciated.

Hospital Auxiliary

No wonder many people saw themselves more than once on the "Volunteers at Work" film made by Mike O'Neill, and shown at the Volunteer Weekdo, awhile back. Elk Point is swarming with volunteers. One such active group is the Hospital Auxiliary. Their April 26 meeting saw sixteen members zip through a number of reports and plans.

Members work at the Hospital Canteen, keeping various articles and supplies on hand for the convenience of patients and visitors. A shipment of decorative plates, featuring a picture of the "old" hospital has been received and are now available in the canteen; a donation of $400 from the Canadian Salt Plant was gratefully received; a number of items, (slippers, books, toy furniture, a cane) were received for the canteen. Carnations were to be purchased for tray favors, for patients spending Mother's Day in hospital.

The largest item on the agenda was planning for the upcoming Tea and Sale, held annually in conjunction with other events at the Hospital.

The Big Day

So the "big" day has come and gone, with all reports pointing to a successful mission accomplished. Friday, May 7, was a rather cool day, but the rains didn't get serious until evening, so were little or no hindrance to the crowds, who came to view the health displays, shown by health-related persons, to shop the bazaar, and to enjoy the tea, served in the hospital dining room.

Auxiliary secretary Adella Jennissen proudly gave the Auxiliary's totals, following the busy day; the bake table, groaning under its load, was swept clear, with only a few muffins remaining, netting $250.50; the beautiful crafts offered brought $138.65; the tea, enjoyed by all, showed $124.55 at day's end, and the wondrous collection of odds and ends offered on the white elephant tables cleared $106.25.

Any remaining items not taken home by their donors were placed, for future sale, in the canteen.

Donations were generous, with items brought by many persons, all gratefully received by the Auxiliary, including cash donations of an additional $40, for a total of roughly $660. Future patients in the Elk Point Hospital will benefit from the volunteers of today. The Auxiliary sincerely thanks ALL who participated and helped in any way. May your kindness return to you tenfold!

County ratepayers to receive new assessments in 1993

County of St. Paul residents will know at the end of July just exactly what the new county assessment will mean to them in dollars and cents. At this time, they will receive by mail their new property assessments.

The move by the county to adopt the Rural Assessment Policy (RAP) in assessing property values in the county has resulted in some tax shifts in some areas, according to county assessor Glenn Zayac.

Under the RAP all residences are assessed on the same basis, 65 per cent of depreciated replacement cost. This includes farm residences which were previously exempt.

Where there is a residence, the first three acres will be assessed at 65 per cent of its market value. The remainder of the land will be assessed as agricultural value. An exemption or reduction in assessment for a residence will be based on the amount of agricultural valued land assessment in the owner's unit. Maximum exemption for a residence is $40,000.

What this means is that, under the RAP, it will take about three or four quarters of land to realize an exemption on an average quality 1,200 square-foot home. As a result, people who live on a quarter of land or less and, in the past qualified for an exemption on their residences, will no longer be able to.

"Henceforth, people with a quarter of land with a residence will see an increase. This is really the only area where there will be a shifting process," Zayac said.

"The average farmer on a section of land with an average house will go down."

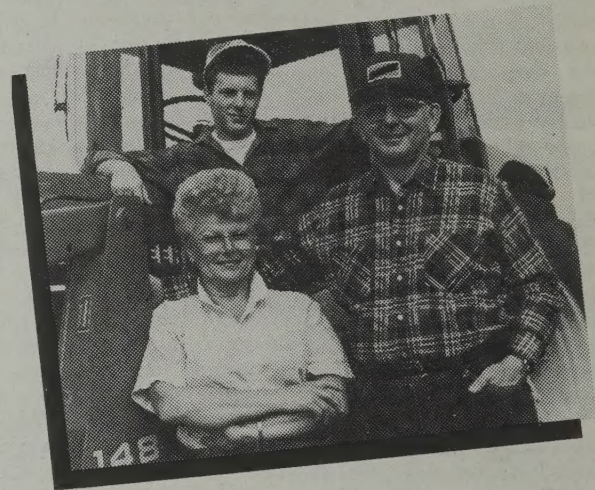

What the RAP does is make for a fairer and more equitable tax system, according to Zayac, who describes it as an "excellent" system.

Owners of lake lots will most likely see a reduction in their assessments due to the fact that lake-front properties have dropped in value since the last county assessment was done in 1983. While the average country residential acreage will see little if any change.

Following the mailing of the property assessments an open house will be held in August to provide ratepayers with the opportunity to voice any concerns or questions they may have in regards to the RAP, and, if they wish, appeal their new assessments.

WHAT'S NEWS AT THE LIBRARY?

Volunteer week school draws

Winners of the Kindergarten to Grade 3 draw, involving guessing how many volunteers there are in Elk Point, were Kim Fryingpan, who guessed 2500 and won a t-shirt, and Jordan Cousins and Sean Slywka, each winning a hat, and Tamara Berland, winning a lunch bag, all of whom guessed 3000. There are 2737 volunteers in Elk Point, and each was represented by a peanut in the big jar which was displayed at the school.

Students in Grades 4 to 6 submitted entries stating "What I do to volunteer for my community" for a random draw. Winners of t-shirts were Joey Fairbrother and Jonathan Yake, Andrea Myshaniuk won a lunch bag and Kentessa Franson won a pencil.

Congratulations St. Paul

The Elk Point Public Library would like to congratulate the St. Paul Municipal Library on the official opening of their new library on Saturday, May 15, 1993. The new library is located next to the Recreation Centre, down the street from the Landing Pad. Remember that your Elk Point library card can be used to borrow books from all other member libraries of the Northern Lights Library System, so take your card when you go to view the new St. Paul Library.

We would like to thank Marvin and Heather Bjornstad for adopting the 1993 magazine subscription for Harrowsmith and Darlene Kozicky for adopting Canadian Living. If you would like to adopt the subscription of your choice, please let us know. A gift receipt for income tax purposes will be issued.

We would also like to thank the hospital for the donation of the book The Joy Of Losing Weight. This book is written, illustrated and published in Edmonton. Nick Lees with Nadja Piatka wrote the book and Yardley Jones illustrated it.

Here is the answer to the question in last week's library column, "what is the name of Alberta's floral emblem, and how was it chosen?" The name of the flower is officially "the prickly rose" and it became Alberta's floral emblem in 1930 after it was voted on by Alberta's school children. You can look up this flower and many other flowers in the book Wild Flowers of Alberta by R.G.H. Cormack.

New Books

A large selection of juvenile books has arrived and the following books can be found in the juvenile area: the all time favorites are the Nancy Drew series, the Hardy Boys series, Sleepover Friends series, the Babysitters series and much more. Be the first to take out some of these exciting new books.

In the adult area, we have Reap The Whirlwind by Spencer Dunmore. This is the untold story of 6 Group, Canada's bomber force of World War II.

For our Science Fiction patrons, we have the following new books: Damia's Children by Anne McCaffrey, Lord of the Light by Roger Zelazy, The Martian Chronicles by Ray Bradbury, The Big Time by Fritz Lieber, Methuselah's Children by Robert Heinlen, To Your Scattered Bodies Go by Philip Farmer, Ringworld by Larry Niven and the astonishing sixth novel of the Hugo-winning Foundation series by Isaac Asimov, Foundation and Earth.

UCW disbands

Grace Pinder

Several UCW ladies met in the church hall on May 5 to finalize the business of the UCW.

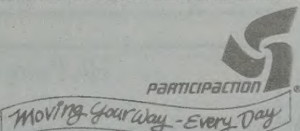

Due to declining membership, we have decided to retire and business will be done through the Church Board.

Grace Barwick will still be in charge of stamps and glasses. Stamps are sent to the Canadian Bible Society in Edmonton. Proceeds from the sale of them goes to buy Bibles for overseas missions. Glasses are sent to the Bissell Centre in Edmonton. The lens can be reground to fit the need. These can either be left with Grace or at the Church.

The Rummage Store is still active, and sale dates are May 14 and 28 and June 4 and 18. It will now be known as the United Church Store.

We wish to thank everyone who has supported us for so many years.

God bless you all.

WALL TO WALL GIFTS - Friends of the Fort Erna Holliday (left) and Carol Hellquist presided over the Interpretive Centre's well stocked Gift Shop, which has something for every taste and every price range.

BAND ENTERTAINS AT BUCKINGHAM HOUSE - The Frank Stockall Band entertained opening day visitors at the Buckingham House fort site and provided music for the Red River Jig instructor later that afternoon.

Twin Forts open for their second season

Eric Neistrom of Rocky Mountain House and by the Forts' own Louise Crane, listening to the music of the Frank Stockall Band and tapping their toes in a Red River Jig under the direction of a volunteer from Fishing Lake. The museum's education kit, which has visited 7600 students in 300 classrooms in 25 schools throughout the region, was on hand for viewing by visitors to the Interpretive Centre. Furs, a copper kettle, wool blanket cloth hats such as the fur traders wore, trade goods, bone and other artifacts from the site, and books describing the period during which the forts operated were included in the trunkful of materials which Director of Visitor Services Louise Crane has shown and explained to students this winter.

The Friends of the Forts have added a number of new items to their giftware lines this year, including birchbark paintings, paintings on rocks and tree fungus, fish scale and porcupine quill pictures, shingle art, wooden decorative items and 'dream catchers.' Homemade jams and jellies, local honey, beeswax candles and ornaments, handpainted cans and kettles, handwoven rugs from Kehewin Cree-Ations and handmade jewellery created from natural materials are also available, along with a variety of books on nature and history.

The Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre will be open seven days a week, 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., from now until Labor Day. If you missed the past weekend's celebrations, why not make this fascinating trip into the past a part of your Victoria Day long weekend? To reach the Interpretive Centre, just travel four miles east of Elk Point on Secondary Highway 646, one mile south and a half mile east to reach the access road.

TRAVELLING MUSEUM - Interpretive Centre Director Louise Crane has been visiting schools throughout the region with this kit of information, fur trade items and artifacts during the winter. Now many of those students will be coming to view the Forts in person during the coming months.

C.A. MacLean Journalism Bursary

Help us locate a deserving individual from your community who would like to pursue a career in journalism and could use a little help to get started.

Two Albertans will receive bursaries of $1,500 each co-sponsored by the Alberta Energy Company Ltd. (AEC) and The Alberta Weekly Newspapers Association (AWNA).

The bursaries are named in honor of the late Chuck MacLean, former publisher of the Camrose Canadian.

To be eligible, an individual must be an Albertan who is:

1. a graduating high school student who intends to study journalism, or
2. a student already studying journalism, or
3. a staff member of a community newspaper who wishes to return to school to study journalism.

Winners must pursue their journalism studies at a post-secondary institution within a year of receiving the award. Applications must be received by July 2, 1993.
